TOM DALY WINS FROM GOODMAN

Little Brooklyn Fighter Was a Surprise in Fifteen-Round Fight at Boston and Ha Things His Own Way.

(Special to The Evening World.)
BSOTON, Mass., Sept. 3.—Tom Daly, of Brooklyn, got the decision over Kid Goodman in their fifteen-round bout at the Criterion Club to-night. The result was somewhat of a surprise, as Good-man has shown championship form and was thought to be in line for the highest honors in the feather-weight class, but Daly proved to be his master in this match.

Daly had all the best of it for ten rounds, and in the third had Goodman the latter. After the tenth round Goodman began to show his real form, but it was too late, as Daly had done all the forcing n the previous rounds.

Daly set the pace at the gong in the first round and started in to take Goodman off his feet. He kept at him, and the third round put uppercuts and left hooks to Goodman's head and foilowed it up with right body smashes, The Kid became groggy under the on-slaught and used every method to keep out of reach and save himself as much as much as his condition would a low. as much as his condition would allow. He managed to hang on until the end of the round, and his wonderful recuperative powers brought him around in tairly good shape for the fourth round. Daly had rather exhausted himself in his effort to put Goodman away, but opened up with a left and right to the jaw that rattled Goodman and he came near fouling the Brooklyn boy by striking close to the belt.

Goodman was better off in the fifth round, but he could not avoid Daly's round-right swings which caught him on the kidneys. Daly got in close and shoved several uppercuts on Goodman's jaw which only needed steam to do the job.

In the sixth round Daly crossed has left to the jaw and nearly floored Goodman. Goodman responded with left Jabs, but was helpless with his right. In the seventh, eighth and ninth rounds Goodman played more for the body, which had more effect on Daly. Daly appeared tired after that, but held his own, except in the last round when he was unsteady on his pinious from Goodman's application of body punches.

FITZ'S SIGNATURE

Jack Herman, matchmaker of the International Athletic Club, of Fort Erie, Canada, has decided to make one more Canada, has decided to make one more effort to clinch a match between Bob Fitzsimmons and George Gardner, of Lowell. Mass. for the light heavy-weight championship of the world. Herman has already signed Gardner and will leave Chicago to-day for this city to make an offer to Fitzsimmons.

If Fitzsimmons sticks to his word the match will be quickly made. It is thought, however, that Fitzsimmons will make such demands that will be impossible for Herman to meet and that the match will eventually fall through.
